Release options and final approval

Student name: ___________________________ V number: ___________________________

Check one of the following options:
□ Release the thesis/dissertation as soon as it is approved by the Graduate School.
□ Release the thesis/dissertation after a period of one year.
□ Release the thesis/dissertation after a period of five years.
□ Do not release the thesis/dissertation until the copyright expires, with the exception of releasing the work to my advisor(s), my department(s), and scholars who are physically present in the VCU Libraries (typically for creative works). Attach justification; limit one page.

Electronic theses and dissertations (ETD) make VCU student research and creativity available online as full-text documents and multimedia presentations for use by the university community and others involved in research. In some cases, a student and their advisor can choose to delay the public online release of the ETD. Typical reasons for selecting a delayed release of the ETD include proprietary work and future publishing rights. Based on the justification provided, the Graduate School reserves the right not to accept the release terms. The citation and abstract will appear publicly online for the duration of any restrictions placed on the work.

Rights and obligations
